A few words from PRCS Staff

Welcome to the City of Moses Lake Summer Recreation Guide. I am proud to be the new Director of Parks Recreation and Cultural Services for the City of Moses Lake and to be working with the amazing staff team that maintains, plans, and runs our city parks, facilities, and recreational, arts, and museum programming. Our mission is to provide safe, welcoming parks, healthy recreation, cultural programs, and extraordinary services for all.

We have 32 parks that provide many opportunities for everyone to enjoy. There is a map on the inside back cover that shows them all. In addition to our wonderful parks, the Larson Recreation Center is in full operation, Surf 'N' Slide Water Park will open Memorial Day Weekend, and this year we are offering roller skating on the floor of the ice arena.

Our arts, museum, and recreational programs this summer include summer day camps, arts programs ranging from fine art programs to toddler programs, and a wide variety of sports and recreation programming for all. We are very excited to announce the return of the Summer Concert Series at the McCosh Park amphitheater with the First concert scheduled for July 1st the same evening as the City fireworks display.

We encourage you to get out there and participate. Take a walk in the park, register for a program that interests you, swim at the water park, visit the museum or all of the above! We encourage you to get out there and have some fun!

I would also ask that you watch this space in our guide. We are switching from a "Director's Message" section to "A Few Words from Staff". This will introduce the community to the people in our department that help provide these parks, facilities and programs to the community and give you different perspectives on what is coming in the guide each season. So, WATCH THIS SPACE!

This collection of vintage historic imagery focuses upon the pride of Washington State — Mount Rainier National Park, which was established as the nation's fifth national park in 1899. Through images and words, the exhibit explores the natural beauty, the human involvement, and the physical challenges of the Cascade Range's highest peak, which towers at 14,411 feet above sea level. The exhibit's memorabilia, dating from the 1850s to the 1940s, includes pre-park engravings, black & white silver gelatin photographs, hand-tinted photographic prints, colorful tourist album lithographs, magazine illustrations, promotional literature, and postcards. To paint the sweep of Rainier's past, historical commentary accompanies the images. In addition to stunning imagery of the peak itself, the exhibit includes pictures of hikers with alpenstocks challenging the mountain's rocks and glaciers, graceful waterfalls, old campgrounds, flowery meadows, and winter scenes.

Those songs square up with Hank's life experiences: at one time or another, he has been an underground miner, wrangler for a high-country outfitter, an Army "Green Beret," and shantyman on a square-rigged sailing ship. Hank writes many of his own songs but also interprets ballads by such favorite writers as Bill Staines, John Stewart, Ian Tyson, Chuck Pyle, and James Keelaghan. When not on the road performing, Hank lives on a ranch in Washington's Methow Valley with his wife Kit and their many critters.
